HOMELESS MILLIONS FACE NEW HORROR

FOOD SHORTAGE IN STRICKEN JAPAN VERY ACUTE

UNBURIED DEAD ROT IN AN HUNDRED CITIES

Horrors of Quake, Fire and Tidal Wave Added to By Pestilence, Plague and Famine.—Cholera Outbreak Reported.

Polluted well and river water—the only available supply for millions—is beginning to add to the death toll already claimed by the Japan earthquake, fire and an all destroying back wash from a convulsed sea. Thousands of unburied dead lie rotting and decaying in hundreds of cities, towns and villages, laid waste and desolate.

Tragedy, pestilence, plague disease and famine have made their appearance in the stricken area as reports of an outbreak of cholera, dysentery and yellow fever combine with an acute food shortage in spite of temporary relief measures, and famine threatens to add to the general fearfulness.

Half a million will be the unquestionable toll of killed and injured throughout the stricken area. One hundred thousand dead are reported in Yokohama alone, while 25,000 perished in Tokio. An estimate of the number who were killed in the districts surrounding Tokio and Yokohama cannot be made. To these appalling numbers must reasonably be added many thousands more who will fall before the ravages to follow in the wake of the initial disaster before adequate relief can reach the prostrate nation.

Premier Urges Calmness

"We must show the world," he says, "that even in times of disturbance and distress the Japanese people are able to keep a balanced mind by doing what is right, obeying orders and showing their love of peace." The premier insists that all peaceful Koreans must be protected, even if it be true that certain elements in this section of the population have been responsible for rioting.

Confession Is Claimed

Los Angeles.—Police claim they obtained a confession from Charles C. Alfred, 30, admitting responsibility for the $650,000 oil fire at the General Petroleum Company's tank farm at San Diego on August 17. Alfred was arrested on the streets of San Pedro during the fire and held for observation as to his sanity. He was subsequently removed to the Norfolk hospital for the insane.

ONE DEAD, EIGHT HURT PINOLE POWDER BLAST

East Bay Region Rocked By Explosion at Hercules Company's Plant. —Ton of Nitroglycerine Explodes In Storeroom.

Pinole.—One man was instantly killed and eight suffered minor injuries when more than a ton of nitroglycerine exploded in a storeroom at the Hercules Powder company, near here. The detonation was so terrific that residents of the bay region were aroused by its violence.

Frank Haggerty, 51 years old, the sole worker in the storeroom when it blew up, was killed. Haggerty had been employed by the company for fifteen years and was the only person employed in the nitro-glycerine storeroom.

The injured:

Samuel Silcox, foreman pipe-fitter of the acid department; cranial injuries and shock.

Charles Lehmkuhl, superintendent of the acid department; cranial injuries and bruises.

C. J. McCoy, dynamite conveyer; cuts and bruises.

Albert Illg, worker in the dynamite department; shock and bruises.

Peter Higuera, employed in pulp-drying house; minor bruises.

Charles Florentine, acid department; shock.

Roy Von Dollen, 21 years old, machinist helper; back sprained.

One other employe was slightly injured.

Silcox and Lehmkuhl were more severely injured than the others, although physicians in attendance at the emergency hospital of the powder plant announced that none of the injuries were serious.

Many of the 300 persons employed at the plant were shocked by the detonation, but uninjured. According to officials there are more than sixty men employed in the dynamite storeroom. The main office, situated more than half a mile from the storeroom, was badly shaken and many windows broken. None of the office employes were injured, however.

The shock was clearly felt in the neighboring towns of Crocket, Pinole, Hercules, Richmond, Giant, Benicia and even in Vallejo and Martinez, where windows were broken. In Oakland and San Francisco the shock was so terrific that many people rushed to the street. School children in the Crockett school were near panic.

This explosion was the first at the Hercules plant since January 7, 1919, when four men were killed.

Crocker Art Gallery in Sacramento last month, was returned through the office of the San Francisco Call, accompanied by a scrawled note. The note read "God has forgiven me. You will find my body in Stowe Lake." The note was unsigned.

The wooden panel on which the picture was painted was broken, but the damage was slight, and it is believed that it can be restored without leaving the defect visible.

The painting was first missed by W. F. Jackson, curator at the art gallery, August 25. A national search was instituted, but no trace was found of the picture until it reached the newspaper office wrapped in papers dated September 3. The work was valued far in excess of $50,000.

AMERICAN HEARTS WILL RESPOND

From out of the Far East comes a story that tugs at the heart strings. That earthquake, followed by fire and tidal wave, has caused one of the most colossal tragedies in history. By the side of it, the San Francisco disaster pales almost into insignificance.

Even the Mount Pelee eruption which snuffed out 30,000 beings, falls short of this tragedy with its toll of human life, running into hundreds of thousands.

In this hour of sorrow to that nation across the seas, all racial, political and international differences must and will be forgotten in the common sympathy for suffering humanity.

Japan, which stretched out her hands in helpfulness at the time of San Francisco's need, will find America, and especially California, not less ready and anxious to do what they can to be of assistance in her hour of travail.

Today a whole world sorrows with Japan. But sorrow alone will heal no wounds, relieve no distress, neither cloth the naked or feed the hungry.

What is wanted is material help.

Let all California prove once again to the world that it does not falter when it hears that cry of distress no matter from which quarter of the globe it may come.

THE PROSPECTIVE ANTHRACITE STRIKE

It remains to be seen whether or not under the constitution and laws of this country there is any authority possessed by the United States government to enable the administration to avert the threatened strike in the anthracite coal regions. The strike, if it goes into effect, will be the outcome of a failure on the part of the operators and miners to agree on conditions of work and wages. The two chief bones of contention are the closed shop and 20% advance in wages. The investigation of the coal commission reveals the fact that while wages have increased 145% since 1923, the increase in profits of the operators has increased 267%. The miners maintain that they are not receiving sufficient wages for comfortable living. It is very evident the operators are receiving too much profit. If the public can stand to be gouged with the present price of coal, there would appear to be no reason why the miners' wages could not be somewhat increased and the profits of the operators somewhat decreased, without any advance in the cost of coal to the consumer.

The menace in the present situation is that the operators, having a practical monopoly of anthacite coal production, are protected by the constitution of the United States, which secures them against interference with property rights. While the miners, organized under the arbitrary control of the union, are immune in the enjoyment of their personal liberty. The public suffers because the sway of the operators is arbitrary and that of the union is tyrannous. The public needs protection through the law from both forms of tyranny. The public ought not to permit itself to be placed in a position where its comfort, health and happiness are dependent upon the arbitrary will of any body of men either in the field of capital or labor.

It is to be hoped that Gov. Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, Meditator, appointed by President Coolidge will be able to get a settlement.

FROM COAST TO COAST

When an army flier made the distance from the Atlantic to the Pacific in one hop, taking only a little more than an entire day, and when another beginning as the sun arose over Long Island failed of landing beside the Pacific before sundown of the same day only because of a minor accident a few hundred miles from his goal, when the sun was still high in the heavens, the question of bringing San Francisco and New York into substantially twenty-four hours of each other was definitely and finally settled.

A daily mail between New York and San Francisco, arriving only about a day later, will be worth all its costs to the business interest of the country. It will be worth the vast outlay for 500,000,000 candle-power beacons, and the lesser lights installed to guide the fliers at night. It is the natural, the logical and the splendid refinement of that wonder of twenty-five years age, the rural free delivery.

The beauty of this city is one of its most valuable assets, and every effort should be made to take advantage of the gifts which nature has bestowed here lavishly.

The W. C. T. U. will hold a food sale Saturday morning, September 15, at Gilson's Market.

Mrs. Anna Neuhauser, of Gridley, Ill., niece of Mrs. S. L. Hayes, and her daughter, Miss Irene Neuhauser, of Chicago, arrived Saturday and are visiting with their relatives.

We are glad to report that Cloyd Barker is improving after a very serious siege of pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. James Burns left Saturday for a trip north to Seattle, planning to be away for three or four weeks visiting relatives and sightseeing.

Campbell C. E. officers will attend a C. E. meeting in San Jose this Friday evening, at which the State officers will be present and plans for new work pre sented.

Thru an oversight the name of R. E. Noddin did not appear on the list of the Campbell high school faculty for the coming year, for which we offer our apoligies.

Chas. Willits, of Los Angeles, brother of Mrs. C. W. Sutter, who has been visiting in Campbell, left yesterday morning for home, to go deer hunting. Mr. Willit was a pioneer merchant of Campbell and one of the first postmasters.

The coast resorts were very popular over the week-end, following the unusual stretch of hot weather. Among those seen on the sand at Santa Cruz were the L. and Ed Genasci families, C. E. Buck and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Gard and Lillian, Chas. Brandenburg, and several of the younger generation.

RELATIVES SOUGHT

Wednesday morning's Mercury contained a paragraph noting the death of Miss Annie Rees and stating that the coroner was searching for her sister's whereabouts. The two ladies have been living in a small cottage on Johnson Ave. and but a little over two weeks ago, Mrs. Amy Peck, who, as the paper stated, had helped in a number of Campbell homes with housework, left notice at the post office that she was returning to her home in Swisshome, Oregon.

No inquiry had been made at the office, but the coroner was notified of this forwarding order, trusting that she and other relatives might be located.

WILLIAMS-BRACKET

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Cora L. Williams on Second Street, at high noon, Wednesday, Sept. 12, when her son, Ralph Bracket, was united in marriage with Miss Nina L. Williams, of Stockton, Rev. W. E. Eckles officiating. The young couple will make their home in Stockton where Mr. Brackett holds a position with the Southern Pacific Co., as yard engineer.

Evelyn Henry was over from Salinas for the week-end.

The W. C. Bohnett family enjoyed the week-end at Santa Cruz.

Mrs. Spencer Crump, of Long Beach, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Person.

Wm. Bachman, Earl and Albert Gard have gone to Lake County for a few days outing.

Rev. F. C. Farr and part of the family are in attendance at the Methodist conference being held at Grass Valley.

J. P. Hulsman rented the F. O. Bohnett home on Los Gtos Highway, and is now established there with his family.

Mrs. L. F. Shaw went to Carmel last week with friends from San Jose to escape the hot weather we were having, and has been enjoying the pleasures of that unique colony.

Miss Margaret Blaine left Wednesday for Coleville, Mono, Co., where she has accepted a position in the school for the year. Miss Blaine is anticipating the winter in the mountains as a new experience.

Tuesday evening, State Master George Harrison of Sebastopol, was in attendance at the meeting of Orchard City Grange to inspect the work. Initiation ceremonies were conducted and the usual harvest feast enjoyed.

Ada Rebekah Lodge will meet in regular session Tuesday evening, Sept. 18, at I. O. O. F. hall. All members are specially requested to attend. A fine program and social time have been prepared. All visiting Rebekahs are welcome.

The state Supreme court has under consideration arguments supporting and attacking the recent amendments to the San Francisco charter providing for the use of voting machines. The points involved are: Does the amendment do away with the preferential system? Is it legal to use machines in fifty-two precincts and not in others; and whose duty is it to decide when machines are to be used?

The third annual convention of the Placer County Fruit Growers association at Auburn, October 2 and 3, promises much of interest. Aside from reports on projects set in motion at the last convention, many problems peculiar to Placer county will be discussed by experts. The university agricultural department has checked up all projects in progress and have many things to report.

T. E. Matthes of the U. S. geological survey has found evidence of what he considers conclusive proof of the existence, centuries ago, of a mammoth waterfall just east of Eagle Peak in Yosemite Valley, where definite stream channels are carved deep near the brink of the 1,500-foot precipice. Matthes believes these falls were from the glacier covering that part of the Yosemite in the early ice ages.

Since the creation of the state reclamation board 1,700,000 acres of land in northern California has been entirely or partially reclaimed at a cost of $45,000,000, as shown in a recent report of that board. The conclusion of the Sutter-Butte By-Pass project, in the near future, will add 15,000 acres more to that total; the work will cost approximately $1,000,000.

After an exhaustive examination of California wheat fields by representatives of the Sperry Milling company, strong claims are made for the Baart wheat, that no rust was found anywhere, while other varieties were more or less affected. Baart wheat yields this year have been good, varying with conditions. 250 acres on the San Joaquin deta made 32½ bags per acre, weighing 140 pounds per sack and tested 33 per cent gluten.

Nations Must Depart From Selfish Individualism and Inhuman Isolation

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP CONFERENCE Address to World Rulers.

The nations of the world must depart from selfish individualism and inhuman isolation. They should unite in creating new standards which are based upon the teachings of Jesus. He must be acknowledged as the Supreme Arbiter in every national and international difficulty. Loyalty to Him should be the chief desire of the nations.

It should be recognized that nations are accountable to the same Christian principles as those which pertain to all Christian men and women as individuals. There is no double standard of morality and ethics, one for men and another for nations. There is only one morality, one honor, one righteousness. We believe that the state belongs to God and He is the ultimate source of all civil and political authority.

We believe that the divine right of sovereignty and civil authority is vested in the nation, and that the nation is an intelligent moral entity which God holds responsible for the use of the sovereignty and authority which he has vested in it.

We believe that God's judgments can be averted only by national obedience to the laws of love and brotherhood and fair play, as taught by Jesus, and that such obedience will bring peace to the world, and a restoration of prosperity and happiness to all the peoples.

We further believe that civil rulers are His ministers as certainly as are the rulers of the church, and that those rulers are directly and immediately responsible to Him for their official conduct.

MOTOR PRICE DROP BIG SURPRISE

The substantial reduction in Chevrolet prices announced September 1, caused a great surprise in the automobile world in view of the common opinion that good grounds existed for expecting higher prices.

Service Garage, local Chevrolet Dealers, state that they had no intimation that a reduction was coming, as they knew that for more than six months the Chevrolet Company has been unable to fill half the volume of orders received. Three new assembly plants at Janesville, Wisconsin, Buffalo, N. Y., and Cincinnatti, Ohio, and six new body plants adjoining assembly plants are rapidly building up production, so that it is believed the Company will shortly be in position to fill a much larger proportion of its orders, as it is fixed policy of the Chevrolet Motor Company to price its product as low as production cost permits. The greatly increased production now possible with seven assembly and six body plants and four parts plants insures construction and overhead savings reflected in the new list prices and which constitutes an important step towards still more economical transportation. The following are comparisons of old and new prices, f. o. b. Flint. There is no change in the models:

D. S. Chadbourne, Santa Cruz business man, was accidently shot while hunting in the mountains near Cecilville. After receiving first aid treatment at a ranger station, he was taken on a litter across the mountains to Black Bear where he was met by a physician from Etna Mills. His condition was reported serious.

Widespread damage to the state's grape crop from mildew necessitates extreme caution in packing and shipping during the present season. Director Hecke, after a conference with San Francisco, Lodi and Fresno growers and shippers, said the rules recently adopetd by the state board will be strictly enforced.

A movement has been started favoring the incorporation of Live Oak for the purpose of insuring police and fire protection. A fund subscribed by citizens for the payment of a night watchman will be discontinued. An allowance made by the supervisors toward this fund is also to be abolished.

Judging a Great Institution by Small Defects

By J. H. PUELICHER
President American Bankers Association.

It would be difficult to find a banker, understanding thoroughly the Federal Reserve System, willing to admit that we could continue a first-class commercial nation, without the Federal Reserve Banks, or mechanisms similar to them. Yet there is antagonism to the Federal Reserve Banks based in a measure on some minor mistakes in administration, but more generally on a misunderstanding of their purposes, of what should be expected of such a system.

J. H. Puelicher

The banker, as much as any man, is to blame for the present misconception. He found Federal Reserve Banks a ready scapegoat to blame for no matter what happened. If it seemed desirable to refuse or call a loan it was easy to say that the Federal Reserve Bank wished it, although it should have been refused because contrary to good banking practice.

Most of all was the system blamed for the fact that violent inflation which hundreds of business men and bankers hoped might be continued forever was finally checked by putting up Federal Reserve interest rates. There were those who blamed the system for not having put up the rate soon enough and others who blamed it because it put up the rate at all.

The penalty for thus blaming every business mishap on this valuable system may be the loss of its much needed benefits. If we wish to save the present bank of the United States from the fate of its two predecessors we must make known to America, to its rank and file, the splendid usefulness of these institutions.

We must admit at the outset that in their administration mistakes have been made, that governors of Federal Reserve Banks and members of the Federal Reserve Board are human beings, and in the administration of the affairs of any institution by human beings mistakes will be made, but these have been so insignificant as compared with the outstanding usefulness of the institutions themselves that they should be judged by the good which they have performed, which, after all, has been along the line of their designed achievement, rather than by those errors which time and experience can easily eliminate.

THE PERIL OF EDISON-FORD'S MONEY SCHEME

Would Create More Paper Money Than Russia's Trillions But Add No Real Wealth.

SOME DANGEROUS FALLACIES

Would Remove Safe Restraint of Gold Basis and Open Way to Endless Issues of Paper Money.

How the United States would be swamped, under a greater volume of worthless paper money than has ruined Germany and Russia, by the Edison-Ford commodity currency plan is pointed out in the present article, concluding the reviews, prepared by the American Bankers Association, of the recent exposure of the folly of the whole scheme by William T. Foster, Director of the Pollack Foundation for Economic Research. Mr. Foster says:

"'The supply of money,' says Mr. Ford, 'is inadequate. There is more wealth than there is money to move it.' He draws a vivid picture of 'the golden dam to the stream of prosperity.' From a hundred quarters comes the demand for the government to speed up the printing presses, in order to crush 'the money monopoly,' reduce interest rates, and make it easier for everybody to get money.

"Inflating the currency, however, though it enables people to get more units of currency, does not enable them to obtain more purchasing power, and it does not reduce interest rates. In all her history Germany never had so much money or as high interest rates as in 1922. Money, unlike other forms of wealth, is not easier to obtain simply because the total supply is increased. On the contrary, increasing the supply of money ordinarily increases the demand for money, and interest rates depend not on supply but on the relation between supply and demand.

A Dangerous Fallacy

"We are assured, however, that the Ford-Edison plan provides money for the farmer at virtually no expense to the government or to anyone else. All the government has to do is to print the money. What could be simpler? Here we come to the most dangerous fallacy in the whole project. It is dangerous because of the universal desire to get something for nothing.

"Here is the gist of the matter: Money will buy whatever is produced, not a particle more by any trick of alchemy, or legislation, or finance. The Russians, having multiplied their money 257,000 times, cannot buy as much with it as before. When we print more money there are no more goods for money to buy; not a single additional plow, or hat, or potato.

"Some of those who get the newly printed money can buy more goods than before; all other people can buy fewer goods than before, because their money has fallen off in purchasing power. Since there are no more plows, and hats, and potatoes, and so on, to distribute, if some people get more, others must get less.

"Inflation under the Edison plan is limited mainly because, on account of its indefensible discrimination, most groups of producers of goods and services are not allowed to participate. If all groups were included, as in fairness and in politics they would have to be eventually, the posibilities of inflation would be vast.

The Deadly Spiral

"The total income of the United States is now in excess of fifty billions of dollars. The total money in circulation, including bank deposits subject to check, is not far from twenty-five billions. It follows that the annual production, if used as a basis for new issues on the Edison plan, could at once greatly increase the volume of money in circulation. Every addition to the monetary supply would tend to raise prices. The higher prices became, the higher would be the loan value of a given volume of goods since the size of the loans is based on values and not volume. The greater, therefore, would be the volume of new money that could be issued on the basis of a given annual production. Prices would become still higher; and so on up an endless spiral.

"Even in Russia, where financial printing presses hold the world's record for volume, where new issues of two hundred trillions of rubles per month stagger the imagination, the people complain that 'there is not enough money to do business with.' Without the arbitrary restraint of the gold basis, and with Muscle Shoals inflationists, and sundry other kinds of inflationists constantly pressing their claims upon Congress, it is not at all certain that the United States, once well on the road to financial chaos, would in the end be outrun by Russia."
